IOWA HERE IN FIRST BIG TEN INVASION

Home-Coming Scheduled For Thanksgiving Eve

Celebration Is First Of Its Type Staged By Students, Alumni

Skits, Speeches and All Manner of Entertainment Planned for Epochal Event

A home-coming celebration, the first in the history of the University, including skits and speeches, has been arranged by Jack Goode, who was appointed chairman by the Student Council. The event will be held on Thanksgiving Eve, November 23, at Washington Auditorium.

All alumni will be urged to attend this history-making event, for it is to be the first real graduate-student body gathering in the entire history of this institution. There will be junior-senior, sophomore, freshman and alumni sections marked off in the auditorium. The alumni section will be subdivided in order to place the graduating classes together.

The Glee Club and the University Band will be present to do their part of the entertaining. Troubadours are going to give a 15-minute performance. Competitive skits by the women's organization under the management of Pan-Hellenic Council, the men's organization under the management of Reginald V. Mylkes, and the sophomore and freshman classes by the class organization are already under way and prizes for the respective groups will be offered.

Immediately following the gathering at the auditorium, the fraternities will hold open house and for the best decorated, the Student Council has arranged to present this chapter with a prize in the form of a cup.

On the night of the game which is November 24, a Thanksgiving home-coming ball has been planned, about which further information will appear in the next edition of The Hatchet.

Amanda Chittum Will Play Leading Lady In Drama Offering

Royal Gunnison Cast in Title Role of Cue and Curtain's "Cock Robin"

Amanda Chittum will be the leading lady in the play "Cock Robin," now in production by the Cue and Curtain Club and scheduled to go on the boards at the Wardman Park Theater November 18 and 19, according to announcement made yesterday by Constance Conner Brown, director.

A veteran of last year's two productions by the club, she has practically clinched the position. Royal Gunnison plays the role of a villain. Jack Richman will play opposite Chittum as the leading man. Van Demark, cast tentatively in the part of the attorney, has several understudies who may take his place before the "opening night" curtain. Sol Orleans, who won the admiration of the "Contrast" audience last year, will play the part of a harassed and nervous director in a play house.

Only three women will grace the stage and the leading lady will be the only one of these who will not play a character part. Margaret Gillman will be the mother and Elizabeth Rice will supply the comedy.

Written by Philip Barry and Elmer Rice, it is known to be far ahead of the average mystery play and will depict a murder on the stage which leaves the audience in doubt as to the murderer until the final act. The novel device of a play within a play is also used and a "back stage" scene is the pride of Newell Lusby, stage manager, under whose direction the sets are being made.

Robert Yost Elected Head Of Fresh Pharmacy Class

The freshman class of the School of Pharmacy at its meeting on October 17, elected the following officers: Robert Yost, president; Walter Nicklin, vice president; and Burns Geiger, secretary-treasurer.

Contest Manuscripts Due on November 1

All seniors intending to enter the Davis Prize Speaking Contest are reminded that their manuscripts are due on November 1st. According to the public speaking department, speeches are to be persuasive in nature and conform to the ten-minute limit prescribed in the catalogue.

Anyone interested in the contest who wishes more information should call at Building Q, room 81, any afternoon between one and five.

Harriet Atwell, prominent in journalism for the past two years, who last year was head of women's sports on The Hatchet and on the staff of the same section on The Cherry Tree, is now editor of that department of the yearbook.

Betty Coon is starting her third year on The Hatchet as a department editor.

Distinguished British Jurist to Lecture Here During Week

Series of Three Lectures on John Marshall to Be Given by Baron Craigmyle

The distinguished British statesman, Lord Craigmyle, who from 1909 to 1929 was one of the four British Lords of Appeal, a position corresponding to that of Supreme Court Justice in the United States, will give a series of three lectures at The George Washington University on the life and work of John Marshall, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday of this week.

Lord Craigmyle has come to this country to give his interpretation of the great American Chief Justice at the invitation of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

His first lecture will be given Tuesday, October 25, at 6 o'clock, in Stockton Hall; the second on Wednesday at 5 o'clock in room 10 of Corcoran Hall; and the last lecture on Friday at 6 o'clock in room 29, Corcoran Hall. They are open to all interested in John Marshall and in the development of Constitutional law in the United States.

Hoover Leads Hatchet Poll in First Returns; Norman Thomas Places as Major Candidate

Franklin D. Roosevelt in Second Position 95 Ballots Short of Leader

SOCIALIST PLACES THIRD

Junior College Leads Voting; Law School and Columbian College Follow

With the Republican candidate, Herbert Hoover, leading the race with 395 ballots, The Hatchet presidential straw vote has gotten under way. Franklin D. Roosevelt, standard-bearer of the Democrats, is second, polling 300 votes, while comparatively close to the major party nominees runs Norman Thomas, the Socialist, having 221 students in his favor. William Z. Foster, glamorous leader of the Communists, received 5 tallies. The nominees of the other minor parties were passed up and to date it looks as if these men will be completely left out of the running.

Interesting facts are found upon analyzing the votes cast by the student body. Junior College led the other colleges in total number of votes cast with 405, while the Law School and Columbian College trail with 215 and 148, respectively. Of the other colleges represented in the poll Engineering leads the field casting 62 votes, and the Graduate School was close behind, having 40 tallies.

It seems as if the older and more experienced students trend toward Socialism. In Columbian College 59 ballots were cast in favor of Thomas, 7 more than any other nominee received. The aspiring young lawyers of the University cast 64 tallies in favor of the Socialist, contrasted with 61 for Roosevelt and 90 for Hoover. Perhaps the most surprising fact of all is the number of votes cast by the members of the Graduate School for Norman Thomas. The older students cast one-half of their total 40 votes for the non-conformist. The five ballots in favor of Foster, our Communist candidate, were sent in by members of the Graduate School.

The Administration cast all of its votes (which were but 4) for the present incumbent of the White House. The Medics and the future teachers cast 6 and 4 tallies, respectively, for F. D. Roosevelt. Incidentally, these were the only ballots submitted by these schools. Fine Arts and the School of Pharmacy had no representation in the count.

Neophyte Council Selects Officers

Wm. Franklin Heads Pledge Group; Other Officers Elected

William Franklin, Kappa Alpha, was elected president of the Interfraternity Pledge Council at a meeting at the Sigma Chi house last Wednesday. Franklin comes from Flat Rock High School, Flat Rock, Ala., where he was active in student affairs.

Other officers of the Council include: Sam Caldwell, Kappa Sigma, vice president; George Hawse, Sigma Phi Epsilon, social chairman; Lowell Bradford, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, secretary; Robert A. Wildman, Kappa Sigma, treasurer, and Harrison Knapp, Theta Delta Chi, activities chairman.

Voice Tryouts for Troubadour Show to Continue Tonight; Cast, Specialty Parts Not Determined

Eighty-one Women Out for Chorus; Variety of Specialties Wanted

Further tryouts for the cast parts as well as voice tryouts for those who were not heard Friday evening will be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. in Corcoran 10. No selections have as yet been made, either for leads or for non-singing roles. Other specialty numbers also will have an opportunity to be run before Coach Dennis Connell and the Troubadour board at this time. Chorus members are well into the routines, with rehearsals three times a week.

Because of the number of aspirants at the tryouts Friday, lack of time prevented vocal auditions. Consequently, final decisions as to the members of the cast will not be made until after tonight's trials. All those who competed for parts Friday should report tonight, as well as other aspiring musical comedy players and any who have specialties to offer, but did not come before.

After two weeks of practice, 81 women remain in the choruses. They are as follows:

Tell chorus:
Peggy Bastable, Helen Buntin, Dorothy Clum, Virginia Hawkins, Elizabeth

The entertainment will be sponsored by the Scarab fraternity, honorary architectural fraternity.

Councils Announce Iowa Game Dance

Willard Hotel Chosen as Scene of Football Hop on Friday Evening

The Willard Hotel will be the scene of the next Interfraternity-Student Council dance to follow the Iowa game Friday night, from 10:30 to 1 o'clock. The engagement of the Willard Room for this feature football hop is due to the unusual success which attended the first dance held at the National Press Club following the Alabama game.

Music will be furnished by Clayton's Collegians, an organization of musicians which has become very popular playing at various University and fraternity dances this fall.

Every effort is being made to exclude outsiders from this dance in order to make it a typical social function of the student body for their enjoyment. The admission price will be a dollar a couple or stag, plus tax.

Tickets to Symphony Concert Given Club

An anonymous friend of the University presented the members of the Symphony Club with tickets for the first National Symphony Orchestra Concert on Thursday evening, October 20. The club went to the concert in a group after a meeting held at 2001 S street.

Thirty tickets were bought by George Washington University students for the Sunday series of National Symphony Orchestra Concerts. Anyone interested in ordering these tickets may see Miss Dikerman in the Lambie House.

Colonial Eleven Meets Hawkeyes In Nocturnal Fray Friday at 8 P. M.

Iowa One Ahead in Series by Virtue of 7-0 Victory Last Year

EAGER FOR RETALIATION

Ossie Solem, Hawkeye Mentor, Introduces New System to Sophomore Squad

By JOHN BUSICK

Coming to Washington as the first representative of the Big Ten Conference ever to play here, the University of Iowa Hawkeyes will venture out of their home lair to meet the Colonials of George Washington at Griffith Stadium Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Since its formation many years ago, this Mid-western conference has risen to first rank in the football world. Its members have chosen to meet intersectional opponents only occasionally. Thus it is quite a feather in the cap of "Possum Jim" Pixlee to bring the Iowans here this year.

At Iowa City last season George Washington dropped a heart-breaking 7-0 decision to the Hawkeyes. A battle of two fast hard-charging lines, neither team threatened seriously except in the second quarter when the Iowans slipped over their score.

Although losing their last three games to Wisconsin, Indiana, and Minnesota after swamping Bradley Tech in the season opener, the Hawkeyes nevertheless can be counted on to furnish G. W. strong opposition.

You Can Make Homecoming a Success

Homecoming at George Washington may become more than a possibility—WITH STUDENT CO-OPERATION IT CAN BE MADE A REALITY. The Student Council has arranged for a two-day celebration to begin on the eve of the gala Thanksgiving Day football game with Oklahoma. Wednesday with its round of social events, and a mammoth parade to precede the game Thursday and a student-alumni dance for a climax should inject new spirit into loyal followers of the Buff and Blue. Chairmen have been appointed to make arrangements for the event and the University has taken official cognizance of the day by sending invitations to its thousands of alumni.

Students must realize that the success of homecoming depends upon their entire cooperation and full support, and it is the duty of every organization on the campus to make definite plans immediately to set the ball rolling. No time could be more appropriate for making the first annual homecoming celebration at George Washington the largest and most elaborate ever staged in the District of Columbia. Students should not plan to desert the campus on that week-end! Thanksgiving Day is Homecoming Day at George Washington and it will be incomplete without a full representation of both students and alumni.

We Don't Care How You Vote

There is rampant much consternation over the fact that The Hatchet requires a signature to ballots in its straw vote. May we emphatically deny the intimation that The Hatchet or anyone on its staff is interested in determining HOW you vote or what party you favor. It is immaterial to us whether you are a Communist or Free Thinker. We harbor no sinister plot to penetrate the cryptic portals of any student's convictions. We are concerned only with a desire to avoid that notorious practice prevalent among student bodies in projects of this kind—there will be no stuffing of the ballot box in this election if we can avoid it. And for that reason and that reason alone, we insist upon signed ballots. Voters can rest assured that the ballots cast in this election will be destroyed by the editorial staff immediately upon being counted.

YOU MAY INCLOSE YOUR BALLOT IN A SEALED ENVELOPE UNSIGNED, BUT PLACE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS ON THE OUTSIDE OF THE SEALED CONTAINER. We pledge ourselves to destroy every ballot immediately upon counting—there will be no confidences divulged since The Hatchet is in no manner concerned in obtaining any information which might injure any individual in any possible way.

Parking Question Presents Annoying Problem

Foremost among the annoyances in a hectic scramble to obtain an education are those disturbing white tickets which traffic officers delight in placing on students' automobiles. This practice is especially annoying because of the limited parking facilities in the vicinity of the University buildings.

Our attention is called to the fact that certain individuals have presented a plan to the District Zoning Commission which proposes the condemnation of two dwellings on the east side of Twentieth street, between G and H, and the establishment of a comparatively large parking station extending from the street, east, to the alley. This would tend to remedy the matter of congestion and The Hatchet asks favorable consideration of the plan by the District unless a more suitable solution of the problem can be substituted by that body.

In the meantime traffic officers in the vicinity might well afford to close an eye now and then to motor parking infractions under existing conditions. Such action would go far toward establishing a complete student goodwill and cooperation and would in no manner work corruption or warp the conscience of the District officials.

Symphony Orchestra Merits Your Attention

Orchids this week go to Louis Malkus for his commendable efforts in organizing a University Symphony Orchestra. Twenty-five musicians form the nucleus of the new organization which held its initial meeting last week. Another rehearsal is to be held in the near future. Both men and women are eligible for membership in the orchestra. The group answers a long felt need at G. W. and is formed in response to many requests for symphony music. It will be a concert orchestra available for student banquets and entertainment. This represents a definite step toward a development of cultural music and a musical achievement consistent with the attitude of a university which confers a musical degree on orchestra conductors—honors which signify more than empty gestures.

May We Urge You To Attend Chapel

Notations on registration cards indicate that in excess of seventy-five per cent of the student body of George Washington maintain a membership preference in one or the other of the existing religious denominations.

In recognition of this obvious expression of religious feeling and to make a worship hour possible for those who are desirous of attending, Provost Wilbur conducts a noonday devotional in room 10 of Corcoran Hall each Friday at 12:10 o'clock. The service is twenty minutes in length. The order of worship is simple—a hymn, Scripture reading, a ten minute talk, and a closing hymn. Attendance is purely voluntary on the part of the student body. No notices have been sent to classes for fear of arousing a conjecture of compulsion. The program is entirely devotional and non-sectarian. If future attendance warrants, special guest speakers will be procured to conduct the service and announcement will be made of the programs.

The Hatchet takes it upon itself to make an appeal for attendance at chapel. It is inconceivable that of the seventy-five per cent who profess a religious affiliation and those actively interested in religious clubs there should not be a sufficient number interested in chapel to encourage "Dean" Wilbur in his commendable endeavor and to insure the success of the Friday noon-time service. We contend that there are students here to whom professing a religious belief is more than a matter of form. We see no reason why every one of that seventy-five per cent should not make an effort to attend a twenty minute service once a week, even though such attendance is not compulsory.

The Library Was Meant For Study Purposes

For those people oblivious of the fact, we announce that the University maintains excellent library and reference facilities in conjunction with the School of Library Science. To those who have discovered, in this institution for study and research, a haven for inexpensive "dates" The Hatchet extends its heartfelt sympathy. It is indeed a pity that a University should harbor individuals who have such little regard for others. Is it possible that the offenders have failed to realize their nefarious breach of good taste?

Library "dates" can have certain advantages in the way of practicality and convenience. But there is a time and place for everything, and for those individuals who keep "dates" in the library, for no more apparent purpose than carrying on an audible and disturbing undertone of conversation, we have no patience. The Library is a place designed for, and conducive to study. It is maintained for that purpose. And in justice to those individuals who find it necessary or convenient to use its environs in their scholastic preparations the "Library Cow-Boys" and their ilk, are advised to move to locations where their childish glee and lack of inhibition will be less disturbing!

CHIPS

My good people, we are probably all recovering from that shelling the Tulsa Oilers gave our boys Saturday, as well as this extensive rush season. But be of good cheer—for better times are coming, and so is Iowa. For the benefit of destitute hotel owners, our two councils will give a love feast in the form of a dance following the game. I'll see you there, if there're not too many strangers. According to Alicia Mooney, Professor Ragatz, the cherubic Simon Legree of the history department, blighted his young journalistic career in college when he printed a 64-page football extra with all its stories reading backwards—which all happened when he was called on to substitute for the makeup man, who had gone blissfully crocked on the eve of the big game. Being just a young coltish fellow, Rollo would appreciate it if little "Alicia" would elucidate on that word "crocked." The next time a Chi O tells you they're not dizzy, ask her about the pledge who went to history class and never knew until the prof called the roll at the end of the hour that it wasn't her English class. Kitty Birch is back in school for a semester. Yoo Hoo! Cheers! Our weekly on Gracie. Keller's stepping on Pug Hay's neck in dear old Delta Shelta for the drum major's position in the fight for Gracie's heart. Did you say "He takes presents from ladies"? Tek! Tek! Tek! Winchell says that the freshmen are suffering from coeds in the head these days. Even the great Walter has his moronic moments. It looks as if Smith put his pin on Fox for permission to date the rest of the sorority. Speaking of pins, Helen (School Marm) Hughes has collected a like scalp from "Suky" Royce. My dear! What will the Dukes at Dartmouth think of that? Someone stole the brass plate off the Kappa Delta house, and my, were the girls a-twitter—that is, until they found out it was just those roguish Alpha Kappa Kappa (not a chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma) boys from Georgetown. The rascals! Sickler convinced that naive little Montgomery girl that they actually telegraphed cheers to our boys at Tulsa Saturday—"Smooth Nellie," she's right in on every play. Eleanor Spencer, author of "The Shoulder Beautiful," is back with us again for an unlimited stay unless the natives or the Phi Sigs chase her out. We are reserving space for a full description of your 1932 premier evening dress display, Eleanor. Libby (Torch Singer) Holman is an Alpha Epsilon Phi. (Adv.) After tomato juice cocktails at Vola (Swopemized) Drury's menage, "Rudy" (Fleischman's Billboard) Vallee retired to the S. A. E. charge house for dinner, where Mother Hargrave mistook the substitute house mother for Rudy's spouse. If asked for a definition of a sorority open or invitation dance, we could readily say "an interfraternity smoker with a side show chorus for diversion." "The Thirteenth Woman" pledged A. D. Pi. No wonder Harrington wears black these days. Gentle readers, Betty Noname is not a pseudonym for Dick Rollo, and, in fact, in her last letter she usurps the Rollo end of the name and drops her maiden "Noname." I had always hoped that I would be asked before some woman chose to wear my surname, but I guess that goes with the rest of these modern improvements. A. D. Pi and Sigma Kappa both have offered Betty bids since her flat refusal of last week's offers. Watch next week's column for Betty's answer. The vocabulary Spigul uses to clear the gym of men so the Troubadour chorus can practice, should qualify her for one of those talks the coach gives his team at the half during the big game. Well, let's go lick Iowa! A little cheer and pleasant dreams. Au revoir.

Dr. Wilfley, Shakespearean Authority, To Address Students Thursday Night

"The Value of Shakespeare Today" to Be Topic of Address by Pastor

"The Value of Shakespeare Today" will be the topic of an address by Dr. Earle Wilfley next Thursday evening, October 27, at 8 p. m., in Corcoran Hall 15.

Dr. Wilfley is well known throughout Washington because of his long association with the National City Christian Church. For twenty years he served as pastor of the old church on Vermont avenue.

The one abiding hobby and study of Dr. Wilfley's life is and has always been Shakespeare. Before entering the ministry 20 years ago, he won laurels as an actor of Shakespearean roles on the legitimate stage, and has since displayed his histrionic talents informally at numerous affairs. Once each year, it was his custom to deliver a sermon based entirely on some character of Shakespeare.

The address by Dr. Wilfley next Thursday evening is under the auspices of the Shakespeare Society. According to its president, this is the first of a series of talks by worthwhile speakers who will appear before the group throughout the coming year.

Glee Club Names Ten New Women

Dr. Robert H. Harmon announces that the Men's Glee Club is showing rapid progress and adaptability. Twelve entirely new songs have been taken up, which, added to the present repertoire, will make for a greater versatility of the group. So many good voices have applied for service in the lower sections that, in order to balance the club, only the very best could be accepted.

Dr. Harmon is, however, desirous of securing several first tenors, preferably freshmen or sophomores, not so much with a view to present needs as to training them for future intercollegiate competition.

The Woman's Glee Club is a well-balanced organization, with nine voices in each section. Ten new members were recently chosen for tentative service after careful consideration of the adaptability of their voices for choral singing and are expected to work in nicely with the voices of last year's club.

Those named to the revised list of new appointments are:

First soprano—Scotty Giffen, Elizabeth Head, Genevieve Melburn, Mary Catherine Spinks.
Second soprano—Betty Crane, Mary Spelman, Eleanor Yocum.
First alto—Amelita Gulantz.
Second alto—Marjorie Nelson, Katharine Franbarger.

Dr. Henry Snyder to Speak At Meeting of Luther Club

The Luther Club will meet on Tuesday, October 25, in Lambie House at 8:15 p. m. The speaker for the evening will be Dr. Henry W. Snyder, whose subject will be "Todd's Aristocracy." Following this will be a business meeting at which time the election of officers for the coming year will take place.

Provost Wilbur Presented With Gavel by W. Nusbaum

A gavel has been presented to Provost William A. Wilbur by Wilbur W. Nusbaum, a member of the Provost's I-A rhetoric class.

Provost Wilbur is using the gavel in presiding over the rhetoric class. It was made from a piece of mahogany taken from a beam in the White House after the fire in 1812.

LETTERS to the Editor

Student Offers New System for Library

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

It has come to our attention that the University library catalogue lists many books which are not in its stacks. This is due to the fact that many of them are to be found in the departmental libraries. Such an arrangement causes not a little confusion, for one may spend much time consulting the catalogue for certain books hoping finally that one of them may be in the stacks.

May we suggest that it would be more convenient if the library were to list its available books in one section and those of departmental libraries in another section of the catalogue? Having such an arrangement, one could go directly to the book desired, knowing exactly where it could be obtained. This would save the student much unnecessary effort, and the librarian the necessity of explaining why the book is not available and where it can be found.

A STUDENT.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Henri R. M. Van Hoof, winner of the International Oratorical Contest last year, is now achieving success in newspaper work at Haarlem, Holland. Henri returned to his home last September after spending a successful year at The George Washington University.

"To America for Ten Minutes" is the title of Henri's book, published this month, on his experience in America. This unusual title has an interesting origination. The ten minutes' oration, six minutes for the prepared oration and four minutes for the extemporaneous talk allowed to each contestant, formed the basis for it. From America Henri made all arrangements for the publication of his book, a complimentary copy of which is being sent to Professor Alan Thomas Diebert.

Henri personally extended his best wishes to his friend DeHeer Henri Emile Phaff, entrant from the Netherlands in the International Contest this year, on the day he left for America.

SPORT AXE

By JOHN EVERETT

After meeting a Crimson Tide followed by a terrific Golden Hurricane, I wonder what will happen to the Colonials when they meet the Hawkeyes next Friday under the arcs. The Big Ten representative has had a hard time so far this season, receiving lickings at the hands of Wisconsin, Indiana and Minnesota after swamping little Bradley Tech.

Iowa will be the first Big Ten football team to invade the portals of the District gridiron realm. This in itself should be enough of an incentive to attract another large crowd to see the game.

Still smarting under a 7-0 loss to Iowans last year, it is believed that the G. W. boys will turn the tables with a victory. From all reports the Hawkeyes are improving steadily (they scored their first touchdown in conference competition in three years against Minnesota last week), and should put up a corking good fight against the Pilemen.

Washington and Lee surprised the Indians of William and Mary by putting up a stiff fight before losing, 7-0. This can either mean that the Generals have improved a great deal since their opening loss to G. W., 18-0, or, William and Mary has slowed up considerably since beating the Navy at the beginning of the season, 7-0. If comparative scores are an indication of anything, the Colonials are due to throw the Indians for a loss when they meet here November 11.

We suggest that several gross of resin be purchased by the Athletic Department at once for the backfield. A backfield that epidemically has "butterfingers" is too much of a handicap to any football team. Fumbles can make a million dollar gridiron machine look like a Tidal Basin Sandlot outfit.

It is believed that the final score would have been quite different if "Soapy" Fenlon would have been able to throw some of his bullet-like aeriels coupled with that clever running back of punts in the Tulsa game. With the recurrence of Fenlon's shoulder injury during a short workout in St. Louis on the way to Oklahoma, G. W.'s chances to gain revenge on the Oilers went scampering away.

Delt Tennis Team To Meet Phi Sigs Sunday for Finals

Theta Delt's Lose Close Match to Delt, 3-1, in Semi-Finals

In a match replete with thrills and much good playing, Delta Tau Delta won their way into the tennis final by a victory over Theta Delta Chi, 3-1.

The climax of the occasion was a closely contested match between the No. 1 doubles teams for the deciding point. Woodward and Lincoln for the Delt and Knaauer and Knapp for the Theta Delt's battled for two hours and a half before the Delt's emerged victorious 5-7, 9-7, 6-4.

In the opening contest Knaauer defeated Woodward 6-1, 6-3. The other matches were of a different nature, both going the limit. Lincoln in defeating Knapp dropped the first set, recovered and took the next two to win, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Hix of the Delt team, playing in bedroom slippers because of infected feet, finished strong to defeat Molyneux 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The final match to decide the winner for the cup will be played next Sunday, with the Phi Sigs contesting the Delt.

The golf final between Theta Delta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon was postponed and will be played next Sunday.

Colonials' Attack As Game Wanes Fails to Balance Tulsa's 29 Points

Hurricane's Jack Rabbits Take Advantage of Every Break; Run Wild

By JACK ESPEY
(Former Washington Post Sports Writer)

The Colonials returned yesterday to home soil, determined to revert to winning form after suffering an off-day in Tulsa, Okla., Saturday when the Golden Hurricane of Tulsa University defeated them for the third year in succession, 29-14.

Unsuspecting of the fury of the Hurricane that was unloosed early in the game when the home team received a couple of "breaks," the Colonials yielded a margin of points they never could overcome despite a furious rally in the dying moments. Coach Jim Pixlee's players now smart under the sting of a defeat to which their own mistakes contributed and their frame of mind bodes no good for the University of Iowa eleven they engage Friday night in Griffith Stadium.

Alive to every scoring opportunity, the Tolsans built up a lead of two touchdowns in the very first quarter, and although outgained on running plays, added to their total with two touchdowns in the fourth period. A safety resulting from a blocked punt and three extra points kicked from placement also figured in the Hurricane's score.

Having stalled twice in the opening period with fumbles by Joe Carter and Otis Kriemelmeyer paving the way to Tulsa's first two touchdowns, the Colonials finally got their attack working smoothly in the second period, aided and abetted by the inspired play of "Nig" McCarver.

McCarver, who first burst into the limelight in the Alabama game two weeks ago, climaxed this drive with an irresistible smash through Tulsa's left tackle for a touchdown. Then,

Intramural Interest Promises Adoption Of Winter Events

School of Pharmacy Takes Initiative in Basketball; Swimming, Ping-Pong Supported

The tentative intramural program mapped out for the winter season will probably be adopted. As was pointed out last week, three new sports would be introduced if the student body shows enough interest, and there has been a fine response.

The School of Pharmacy has led the way in organizing a basket ball team for the intra-college trophy, while the other schools have tentative teams lined up, and it appears that the drug-gists will have all the competition they desire.

The swimming meet, which will be contested individually, has created a stir among the would-be swimmers around the campus, and many have let it be known that certain events are as good as won.

The prospect of a ping-pong tournament creating an individual ping-pong champion of the University has aroused much interest and speculation among the players of "baby" tennis.

Aspiring Internes Submit Applications

Announcement of Appointments to Be Made by Hospitals on December 1

Senior students in the School of Medicine are now filing applications for internships in hospitals throughout the country, according to the secretary to the Dean at the School.

Announcements of the appointment of the applicants are usually made by hospitals about December 1. Hospitals require a recommendation of the student which is furnished at George Washington by professors who have a personal knowledge of the particular student's qualifications. A complete academic record of the student is forwarded to institutions requiring it as a prerequisite for consideration of candidates. The office announces that few students in the school have failed to receive the desired appointments, while there is on record no case of a graduate being unable to secure an internship. Since the majority of states require a year of interne work as a prerequisite to a state board examination, few senior students contemplate filing applications for such examinations.

George Washington medical students have a perfect record in passing the national board examination, entitling one to practice medicine in the majority of the states in the Union. It was also pointed out that failures on state board examinations have been exceedingly rare.

Mathematics Group Hears Dr. Weida

Dr. Frank M. Weida, associate professor of mathematics, addressed the Mathematics Club on the "Principles of Life Insurance" last Wednesday evening in Corcoran Hall. Dr. Weida defined his lecture as "a discussion of the mathematics of elementary life insurance."

Following the address the club re-elected Dr. Francis E. Johnston, associate professor of mathematics, as president and chose Abraham Sinkov, a student, as secretary.

The Mathematics Club will meet again on November 2, at 8 p. m., in Corcoran Hall, to hear Dr. Edgar W. Woolard, assistant professor of mathematics, discuss "Lewis Carroll as a Mathematician" in honor of the bicentennial of the author of "Alice in Wonderland."

Parker Presentation Feature of Smoker

The presentation by Lawrence Parker of a series of motion pictures of his own photographing, was the feature of a rush smoker given by the Commerce and Economics Fraternity last Friday night at Lambie House.

Richard Marks, the principal speaker of the evening, gave an interesting account of past accomplishments of the fraternity and outlined plans for the future.

Professors Richard Norman Owens and Ralph D. Kennedy spoke briefly, pledging their continued support. Many of last year's members of the club were at the meeting to welcome the prospective members.

At the first meeting of the club, held several weeks ago, the following officers were chosen: Richard W. Maycock, president; Fred Joiner, vice president; Lawrence Parker, secretary, and William Hopkins, treasurer.

This year plans are being formulated preparatory to petitioning entrance to Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce and economics fraternity.

WHO'S WHO ON THE CAMPUS

WILLIAM HANBACK

The president of the interfraternity council this year needs no introduction to the upper classmen of George Washington University, having distinguished himself in its activities in many ways during the last four years.

Bill came here from Central High School in 1928, and took his degree from The George Washington University School of Arts and Sciences last year.

His ability in handling athletics was soon recognized, and when he organized the athletic system of one undergraduate manager for all sports, and two sub-managers, one for each major sport of basketball and football, he was appointed the first undergraduate manager under that system.

He identified himself with the sports staff of the Cherry Tree, and was elected first as assistant sports editor in 1929, and then as sports editor in 1930. During the same year, in recognition of his splendid work in the journalistic field, Pi Delta Epsilon initiated him.

However, Bill's social activities are also worthy of note, and Gate and Key took him in their circle, and soon afterwards, Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity, pledged him, too. Bill is a sophomore in the Law School this year.

His social fraternity is Phi Sigma Kappa.

Dean E. McKinley Greets Professors At Medical Meeting

Twenty-two New Staff Members Formally Welcomed to University at Reception

More than 400 persons, including members and their wives, and guests, were present. Members of the University Board of Trustees were special guests at the reception and meeting. Cloyd Hick Marvin, president of the University, discussed the development of the School of Medicine and its correlation to the progressive programs in force in all schools and colleges of the University.

Following a buffet supper, served in a laboratory room of the new building, those present at the meeting were invited to inspect various laboratories and departments containing the most modern scientific equipment. The full staff of laboratory assistants was on duty during the evening. Senior students in the School of Medicine were ushers at the "open house."

Membership in the George Washington Medical Society is limited to men and women graduates of Medicine from the University.

Succeeds Fesler to Interfraternity Office; Cooperative Buying Plan Approved

John Royce, Sigma Chi, was elected treasurer of the Interfraternity Council to succeed C. Manley Fesler, also of Sigma Chi, at the meeting on Sunday, October 16, at the Kappa Alpha house.

The cooperative buying plan, by which the fraternities may purchase all their supplies at wholesale prices from the various business houses in the city, was definitely approved and established. This is the first time anything of this kind has been attempted and its success means a decided saving in the cost of running an active fraternity house.

It was also decided to support the Interfraternity Pledge Council again this year. However, those fraternities holding offices in the Council cannot have officers in the Pledge Council. William Hanback, president of the Council; Thomas Vaughan, and John Royce will exercise general supervision over the Pledge Council.

International Affairs Topic at Convention

Dr. Donaldson Speaks on "The United States and Economic Pan-America"

Dr. John Donaldson was one of the main speakers at the convention of The Institute of International Affairs which met at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia, October 17, 18, and 19.

The various sessions of the conference were devoted to different parts of the world. Dr. Donaldson's address came under the topic of Pan America, which was the subject of discussion on Wednesday morning. His speech, entitled "The United States and Economic Pan America," contained a summary of the commercial, industrial, and financial aspects of our relations with our neighbors and touched upon the economic phases of the Monroe Doctrine. Although not a lengthy discourse, the address was packed full of valuable facts which held the interest of the audience and showed that there are no serious difficulties between the United States and her neighbors in economic affairs.

Perhaps the most outstanding personage at this meeting was Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, former envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from the Republic of China to the United States and recent member of the council of the League of Nations, whose topic was "The Present Crisis in the Far East."

Among the other outstanding speakers were Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs in the Department of State, and Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan American Union.

WITH CLIVE IN INDIA

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Godwin... inspired by the fierce and brilliant assaults by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives, at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire—as described in the famous Henty book, "With Clive in India."

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, the Lord will build him a house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

Models by John Early Shown in Arts Building

In the Fine Arts Building there are on display several casts presented to the University by Mr. John Early, architectural sculpturer for the new House of Representatives Office Building.

Among the models presented were one full-sized Capitol, an exact replica of the exterior columns used in the building, one copy of an exterior pilaster, and varied interior details. This display is typical of the style of design to be used throughout the building.

Women's Rifle Team To Select Managers

All Aspirants to Positions Must Submit Applications Early This Week

The coach of the women's varsity rifle team, Helen Taylor, has announced that the appointments of the assistant managers of the team will be made this week or early next week. Therefore, any sophomores or juniors who are interested in the positions should leave their applications at the rifle range, located in the basement of Corcoran Hall, early this week. All applications must contain the following information: Name, address, telephone number, class, and free time between 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

The assistant manager system is being changed this year in order to simplify the selection of the team manager. By this new plan, the varsity team manager will be chosen from the two junior assistant managers who will in turn be taken from the three sophomore assistant managers who are appointed each year from the promising material of the freshmen shooters of the previous year. In this manner, the woman doing the best work for three years will become the manager in her senior year and will be well-trained for the position because of her previous experience. All women interested in rifle, experienced or not, should be sure to attend the meeting in the range on Tuesday at 1 o'clock.

Dr. Garnett Speaks To Menorah Society

Gives Talk on Spinoza to Celebrate Anniversary of Author's Birth

Joining in a world-wide celebration of the ter-centenary of Benedict Spinoza's birth, the Menorah Society presented Christopher B. Garrett, acting head of the department of philosophy, at its October 19 meeting, speaking on "Spinoza After 300 Years."

"Infamous atheist" and "God-intoxicated man" are two contradictory sobriquets which have been bestowed on this misunderstood man, the Jewish lens grinder who was expelled from his synagogue for the extreme view he voiced and who founded the philosophy of Pantheism.

"What does Spinoza mean to us today?" was the question which Dr. Garrett posed. He answered it by explaining the Spinozic ideal of happiness—the putting aside of riches, fame and pleasure to devote oneself to the study of art, science and literature.

Schmidt Is Honored At Librarian's Fete

A reception was held at Lambie House Saturday evening, October 22, by the Library Science Division, in honor of Prof. and Mrs. Alfred F. W. Schmidt, who have returned from a year abroad. Prof. Schmidt, who is librarian of the University and Director of the Library Science Division, spent most of his time in studying libraries and methods of library work.

The receiving line was composed of Miss Elizabeth Lathrop, Prof. and Mrs. Schmidt, and Mr. Ernest Ketch. A large number of present and former Library Science students attended. During the evening Prof. Schmidt described some of the important libraries of Europe. The methods are not modern, and a student may have to wait 24 hours for a book. Lack of funds hinders the work, but the older libraries are wonderful. Plans were made for the organization of a Library Science club, which will hold its first meeting Monday, November 14, at 8 p. m., in J 29.

Red Cross Drive For Memberships Aided by Students

Darling Heads Committee; College Students Needed by Red Cross

The Student Council is cooperating with the American Red Cross in putting on a Red Cross membership drive in the University. This drive will begin on Monday, October 31, and will last for one week.

The Council voted to assume responsibility for the drive after hearing a representative of the Red Cross at its meeting on October 12. A committee, headed by Velpau Darling, was appointed by President Elton Billings to perfect plans for the drive.

This year, for the first time, the American Red Cross is endeavoring to enroll college students throughout the country. This policy was adopted as a result of increased needs of the Red Cross.

A committee will be appointed by the Student Council representative from each college to take charge of the drive in the college he represents. Red Cross desks will be placed in the main buildings and circulating agents at large will work each day. All fraternities, sororities, clubs and other organized bodies will be furnished with ample blanks for 100 per cent enrollment.

All students who would join through the Government or other agency will be urged to join through the University in order to make a creditable showing.

ble handicap of introducing an entirely new system of play to gridirers who are in varsity competition for the first time.

He has brought his men along slowly, fortunately with few injuries, but with the knocks that any new coach takes in his first year in the Big Ten. However, Solem has had the satisfaction of seeing his team, though defeated, improve tremendously with each week's experience.

A graduate of Minnesota, he learned his football from the famous Doc Spears, and it is the latter's numerous tricks and versatile attack that the Colonials will face. By this time the Hawkeye gridirers have absorbed this style of play and local fans will get an idea of how things are done in the Big Ten when the Iowans swing into action this week.

Center Is Captain

A tower of strength in the line as well as a fighting leader is Captain Marc Magnussen, who holds the center position in Solem's forward wall. Weighing 194 pounds, he has yet to be outplayed this year and doubtless will give G. W. U. plenty of trouble.

At fullback is the visitors' other chief threat in the person of Marvin Kuhn. Acting the role of line plunger, kicker and key defensive back, he has led the Iowans on attack all season. Fast, heavy, elusive and ever dangerous it is he who will undoubtedly bear the brunt of the invaders' offensive work.

Fenlon Nursing Shoulder

After a 2,000-mile trip to the Southwest, Captain Wayne Chambers and his cohorts return to local haunts for the remainder of the season. The only serious casualty suffered was by Johnny Fenlon, ace of the backfield. In St. Louis en route to the west he aggravated an old shoulder hurt which kept him out of the Tulsa game entirely. As yet it is not known whether Fenlon will be ready for action by Friday or not. If Fenlon is still convalescing, the

Intercollegiate Meet Scheduled for Hood

George Washington, Hood, Goucher Colleges to Par- ticipate in Sports

Hockey, volley-ball, archery, tennis, ping-pong, tennis, and soccer are the sports chosen for the tri-college play day by representatives from the George Washington, Hood, and Goucher women's athletic associations at their meeting at Hood College last Saturday. November 5 is the date set for the intercollegiate meet which will take place at Hood College.

Points for each victory will be given to the winning group, and these will be totaled at the completion of the program to decide the winner of the play day. No award will be made, however, as this is not customary in sports events of this type.

It is estimated that approximately 85 members of the Hood W. A. A. will participate in the play day, acting as hostesses for the visitors as well as taking part in the sports events. George Washington will be represented by 83 women, while Goucher plans to send 66 to the event. These large groups will be subdivided into class teams.

After the sports program the Hood W. A. A. will be hostess to the entire group at dinner at their cabin in the mountains nearby.

burden of the Colonial attack will rest on "Nig" McCarver, tall Texan who has shown so well of late. John Baker, "Otto" Kriemelmeyer, and Joe Carter probably will make up the rest of the ball-carrying quartet.

Scribes wrote so well of the G. W. line after the Tulsa contest that it will remain intact for the Iowa clash. One change marked the opening line-up against the Oilers, Bob Galloway supplanting Mulvey at left end.

after the Hurricane had placed the decision beyond recall in the fourth quarter, this same flashy halfback inaugurated another rally that culminated with Joe Carter cracking a hole in the middle of the line and dashing 12 yards unimpeded to the goal. Johnny Baker, who filled the place of the injured Johnny Fenlon at quarter back, placed-kicked the extra point after both touchdowns. The time remaining after the Colonials' second touchdown was insufficient to permit their snatching the game from the fire.

At the outset Kriemelmeyer and Carter pounded the bulky Tulsa line for a first down, whereupon Carter lost his grip on the ball while slicing off tackle and Capps recovered for Tulsa. Immediately the Hurricane struck with full force through the air and sent Charlie Dugger running over the goal line with a pass from Quarterback Workman. A 15-yard penalty had momentarily delayed the destruction, but this loss was quickly made up as Chuck Keeling grabbed a pass from Workman for 25 yards. The touchdown play followed when the George Washington secondary failed to cover Dugger according to program play and permitted the Tulsa end to traverse a short, clear field after he had juggled the ball. "Skeeter" Berry, one of Tulsa's jack rabbit backs, rushed into the fray in place of Keeling to attempt the extra-point kick, but Berry's effort was wide of the posts.

Again the Colonials assaulted the Hurricane line with Kriemelmeyer and McCarver, who had replaced Carter, reeling off another first down, but at the Tulsa 27-yard line, Kriemelmeyer fumbled and Capps again recovered for the home team. This was a signal for another Tulsa pass, a duplicate of the first scoring attack. However, Fullback Greene and Billy Boehm formed the combination with the latter scampering 35 yards to the last white stripe. As before, the Colonial secondary performed incorrectly, giving Boehm an easy chance to make the catch and get away. Berry place-kicked the point to boost Tulsa's total to 13 as against nothing for G. W.

Early in the second period George Washington braced and forced Greene to punt, the ball being downed on the Colonial 23-yard line. Here the Pixerleens began to click on all cylinders as McCarver set the pace. Suddenly switching from the ground to the air, "Nig" shot a pass to Captain Wayne Chambers for 16 yards. Quarterback Baker surprised the enemy again, taking the ball himself for 6 yards and then calling a play through the middle for Chris Dooze, who had supplanted Kriemelmeyer. The two thrusts placed G. W. U. in Tulsa territory and reminded Hurricane fans and players alike that the game was yet anybody's. On the next play, a deep pass from McCarver sailed just beyond Bob Galloway's outstretched arms and fell in the end zone for a touchdown.

Still the Colonials were not to be denied. Frank Blackstone a moment later saved their chance by intercepting Greene's pass on Tulsa's 26-yard line, and once more the Buff and Blue sallied goalward, this time to be successful. Dooze and McCarver made first down on the 16-yard line, and Baker galloped around end on a reverse to the 6-yard line, whence McCarver in a mighty burst of speed shot through tackle for the touchdown.

A punting duel consumed five minutes of the third quarter leading to the safety that made the figures read, Tulsa, 15; George Washington, 7. An 80-yard rolling punt by Workman set the Colonials back to their 20-yard line. With Kriemelmeyer on the bench, the G. W. punting was entrusted to Burrell Steele, sophomore tackle, but the Tulsa ends, realizing that Steele had only one duty to perform behind the line, rushed his kicks twice and blocked each one. The second occasion saw the ball bound behind the end zone for an automatic safety.

Midway of this period Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson shifted big Bill Volok from guard to fullback, and the giant 200-pounder led a bruising line attack, mixed with end runs by Berry, that did not stop until another Tulsa touchdown was recorded. Boehm crossed the goal line in the first minute of the final period to climax this sortie after the Colonials turned back three assaults from within the 3-yard line.

The fourth Hurricane touchdown was made by Boehm with about four minutes left to play. For the third time, a G. W. U. secondary failed to carry out his defensive assignment to crown Boehm's effort with success.

McCarver, evidently intent on wreaking revenge on behalf of the entire G. W. team, took the ensuing kick-off and literally ran over the converging mass of Tulsa tacklers to bring the ball back 48 yards to Tulsa's 43-yard line. "Nig" looked for a few seconds as though he were off for a touchdown, but he chose to run into Keeling, Tulsa safety man, thus decreasing his speed sufficiently to enable another defensive player to bring him down from behind.

Taking their cue from McCarver, the rest of the Colonials put new life into their work at this point and quickly had the enemy in full flight. McCarver tore through tackle for 9 yards, passed to Finis Parrish for 18, and then Baker sent Carter into the middle of the line. Carter, as mentioned before, bolted madly through the opposing forward wall for 12 yards and a six-pointer. Baker got off a beautiful place kick for the point to conclude the scoring.

Norman Thomas, Socialist Candidate for President, Offers 25-Point Program to Correct Current Evils

Most Members of Liberal Club Belong to Organization Which He Founded

By R. SHOSTECK

Although the people are more familiar with the names and records, the aspirations and policies of the Democratic and the Republican candidates for the Presidency, Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for chief executive of the United States, is a comparative stranger to the American public.

Norman Thomas was born in Marion, Ohio, in 1884. He earned his first pennies as a newsboy, working for Warren G. Harding on the Marion "Star." Coming from a distinguished clerical ancestry, young Norman entered Bucknell College at 18, to prepare himself for the ministry. Through the financial aid of a relative, he entered Princeton a year later, there completing his college education.

Going to the East Side of New York as a settlement worker, he came into intimate contact with the suffering and misery of the slum dwellers. This had a decided influence on his philosophy, convincing him that capitalism had little to offer the worker. After several years he was appointed assistant minister to the famous Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, at the Brick Presbyterian Church, on Fifth avenue.

Became Journalist

Leaving the ministry in 1918 he formed "The World Tomorrow," which he edited for four years. This journal has since become an influential organ of liberal Christianity and Socialism. Likewise, at this time, he helped found and guide the American Civil Liberties Union, an organization in the forefront of defense of civil and political liberties. In 1919 he became associate editor of the "Nation." Together with Dr. H. W. Laidler, he founded the League for Industrial Democracy, which now has over 160 branches in as many colleges and universities. Practically every member of the Liberal Club at G. W. U. belongs to this organization. The league works for "education for a new social order, based on production for use and not for profit. Thus we see Thomas actively engaged in working for Socialism. Joining the Socialist Party at a time when the war hysteria made advocacy of Socialism extremely dangerous at a time when over 2,000

Socialists were jailed for daring to give voice to their philosophy and their objection to an imperialist war, Thomas spoke forth boldly and resolutely for socialism, many times in danger of his life. He was the party's standard bearer in the 1928 presidential campaign, and candidate for mayor of New York City in 1930, when he received 175,000 votes.

Socialist Platform

The party which Norman Thomas represents has a definite program. The immediate platform for which it stands is as follows:

1. Five billion dollar immediate relief fund. 2. Six-hour day and five-day week. 3. Free employment agencies. 4. National system of unemployment insurance; funds contributed by government and by industry. 5. Old age pension law. 6. Health and maternity insurance. 7. Workmen's accident insurance. 8. Abolition of child labor. 9. Federal aid to farmers and small home owners. 10. National minimum wage law. 11. Social ownership and operation of natural resources, banking and credit systems, transportation and basic industry.

12. Increased inheritance and income tax. 13. Lower land tax to aid farmers. 14. Federal laws to enforce first amendment. 15. Anti-injunction laws. 16. Economic, political, and legal equality for negroes. 17. Liberalization of immigration laws. 18. Repeal of espionage act. 19. Immediate reduction of armaments. 20. Recognition of Russia. 21. Cancellation of war debts. 22. Fight American imperialism and military occupation of smaller nations. 23. U. S. entrance into world court. 24. Prohibition of traffic in arms and ammunition. 25. Repeal of 18th amendment, and nationalization of liquor industry.
